

"WETS" MAY DIG OWN GRAVE WARNS CONGRESS HEARING OF VIOLATION

WILL TAKE UP RIGID ENFORCEMENT MEASURES IF SALOONS DO NOT OBEY WAR TIME PROHIBITION

PALMER AGAIN WARNS DEALERS

WASHINGTON, July 1—Lax enforcement of wartime prohibition will mean the hasty enactment of strict enforcement legislation, prohibition leaders in Congress declared today. The dregs, headed by Chairman Volstead of the Judiciary committee, will press the enforcement bill early next week, asking for a special ruling so that it will be considered.

WASHINGTON, July 1—"Dealers who continue to sell beer are in danger of arrest and prosecution," Attorney General Palmer declared today.

PITTSBURGH, July 1—"Saloon keepers selling beer containing alcohol are doing so at their own risk," United States District Attorney Crawford declared in a statement issued here today. "I do not think it is necessary to await further orders," he said. "It is up to the United States court whether these saloon keepers are violating the law. Cases will be investigated and where it is known that the law is being violated the Department of Justice will make arrests. To my mind Attorney General Palmer's statement is very plain. It sets forth what is violated and what is not."

Practically all of the saloons in Pittsburgh are open for business today, selling "non-intoxicating" beer. The amount of alcohol the drink contains was kept secret. Brewers refused to state the alcoholic contents.

WAR CLASSICS

WASHINGTON, June 30. (United Press.)—An addition to the short list of historic messages of American commanders in the European War was made today.

Second division records disclosed the message of Maj. George K. Shuler, 6th Marines, at Blanc Mont, capture of which was declared by French commanders to be the greatest American achievement of the war:

"We can not only hold them; we can knock the — out of them."

The message, with a rough and purely American word where the dash is used, was sent without change through regimental, brigade and division headquarters to General Gourard, one-armed French corps commander, directing 2d Division operations.

Major Shuler's reply to a question by Lieut.-Col. Thomas Holcomb, regimental commander, whether he could hold his position with the few men at his command against a counter-attack, was him the Legion of Honor upon recommendation of General Gourard. He wears also the Croix de Guerre with two palms.

The 2d was before Blanc Mont on October 7, 1918. The position was believed impregnable. French divisions had tried five times to take it. French tacticians said its capture by Americans made possible the British advance on St. Quentin. They said it was far greater than Chateau-Thierry.

On October 8, the Americans attacked Blanc Mont. Shuler's battalion won a mound commanding the village of St. Etienne. In the afternoon a terrific barrage was laid down by the Germans, who counter-attacked.

"Can you hold them?" the regimental commander messaged Shuler. His famous reply followed.

Another 2d Division message—the only dramatic one published in the War Department history—is of unknown authorship. Officers said it came from General Harbord, Marine Brigade Commander; Lieutenant-Colonel Holcomb or Col. Harry Lee, of the 6th Marines, or from Capt. (then Lieutenant) James F. Robertson, of the 2d Battalion of the 6th. It was written in indignant answer to an unpublished query, following reports that Germans had recaptured the hard-won village of Boursies, adjoining Belleau Woods, and said:

"Have not given up one inch of ground. No report of prisoners taken."

Robertson had captured the town with twenty-odd men.

Most famous messages that have become public were from 2d Division commanders. General Harbord's contribution was at Chateau-Thierry:

"Hold this line at any cost."

It was First Sgt. Dan Daly, of the Marines—thrice recommended in various wars for the Congressional Medal of Honor and twice awarded it, and in possession of the Croix de Guerre and D. S. C., who tightened a wavering line in Belleau Woods by yelling:

"Come on, you —! Do you want to live forever?"

Gen. L. S. Upton, in command of the 9th Infantry at Soissons, when told his veteran regiment—which with the 23d Infantry and the Marines made up the 2d Division—had gone past its objective, sent this reply:

"If the Crown Prince's army can't stop them, how can I?"

COMMITTEE.

While Jews are, of course, subject to the ordinary ailments of life, they can boast of an average longer life than any other race. They have always enjoyed remarkable immunity from tuberculosis, cholera and typhus. In the fourteenth century, when the Black Death was raging throughout Europe the Jews were exempt from the plague.

TEN KILLED WHEN N.Y.C. PASSENGER TRAINS COLLIDE

DUNKIRK, N. Y., July 1. (United Press.)—Ten persons were killed and 16 injured early today in a rear end collision of two New York Central passenger trains in the Dunkirk station. The injured were taken to the Dunkirk hospital. It was feared that some of the injured were fatally hurt.

The accident occurred at 2:30 A. M. Train No. 41 was standing in the Dunkirk station where it had been delayed by a hot box. The flagman endeavored to stop train No. 7 which was following. The air brakes on the second train apparently failed to work. With great speed train No. 7 plowed into the rear coach of the standing train. Almost instantly the boiler of the locomotive of train No. 7 exploded. The wreckage caught fire. Firemen extinguished the flames and aided the policemen in removing the dead and injured.

FAIR EXHIBITS GALORE

The Philipsburg Journal reprints the following from the Curwensville Herald: "According to a Clearfield newspaper a dealer in that city has a horse weighing 28000 pounds. [The monster animal should be saved for the county fair.]"

In the same issue of The Journal we notice a headline, "35.50 A Head For Cows". Isn't that a little high for Centre county stock?

WILL BE MARRIED TOMORROW

Mr. Perry Brigham and Verna Worring hope to surprise their friends and families tomorrow by being quietly married. They will enter the state of matrimony at seven o'clock and leave on the morning express.

In the Scottish Highlands it is taken as a terribly unlucky sin if a dog should run between the bridal pair on their wedding day.

SIXTY VOLUNTEERS WANTED TO SERVE SERVICE MEN

The committee in charge of the serving of luncheon to service men is preparing to feed no less than 1500 men at the park on the Fourth. Volunteers are wanted on the Entertainment Committee. Today a clarion call goes out for 60 young women and girls to assist in the serving and entertaining of the soldier boys in the Main Exhibition Building. Those who will volunteer will meet at the Y. M. C. A. this evening at eight o'clock for instructions. It is hoped that every girl in Clearfield will respond to this call. There is a great amount of work to do in preparing the tables, serving the men and seeing that all have a royal good time. This is work that the men cannot do so it is up to the girls of our town. Be on hand promptly at eight o'clock this evening.

OUTDOOR SERVICES CENTRAL CHURCHES START SUNDAY

At a meeting of the pastors of the five central churches, Trinity M. E., Presbyterian, Episcopal, Baptist and Lutheran, held Monday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. plans for the services were completed and everything will be in readiness for the first service July 6th at 7:30 P. M. All the members of the several churches are depended upon to be there on the platform equipped with "Make Christ King" song books. An orchestra will be on hand to assist the organ in leading the music.

It was decided to lift an offering at each service, and that whatever is not used for the expenses of the meetings is to be given to the Clearfield hospital. Last year the Clearfield hospital fund received $4750. It should be double that this year. The following laymen, from the five churches, were appointed to erect the seats and get the place ready on Thursday at 7 P. M. armed with axes, hammers and sledge hammers ready to work. At the time of the services they are to act as ushers and take up the offerings and render any assistance they can. If for any reason any of them cannot be there he is expected to get a substitute. JOHN W. EBERTS DROPS DEAD

John W. Eberts dropped dead in his hayfield shortly after supper time last evening. Mr. Eberts had been attending to business at his mill all day and appeared to be in his usual health. In the evening he went to the hayfield and was assisting his man in taking up some hay when he fell over and expired almost instantly. News of Mr. Eberts' sudden death was a sad shock to our community.

John Eberts was one of the substantial citizens of Clearfield and our town and community suffers a distinct loss in his death.

He was a native of Centre county and came to Boggs township and took up his residence along about 1881. He was especially industrious and hard working and was a very successful business man. Some fifteen years ago he moved to Clearfield and embarked in the flour and feed business, which he purchased from the late James A. Moore. He built up a prosperous business and died possessed of considerable means. He was quiet and unobtrusively a good citizen in all that the term implies and was known and respected by a large circle of friends.

He was about 60 years of age and is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. M. O. T. Sahn, and one son, J. Willis Eberts, all of Clearfield.

BROKE HIS ANKLE

J. Fred Weaver is housed up with a broken ankle at present.

WASHINGTON, July 1—President Wilson will speak in New York immediately after his arrival there, it was learned at the White House today. His speech will be delivered at the Metropolitan Opera House or at Carnegie Hall. It is believed that the speech will mark the beginning of his campaign for the renunciation of the League of Nations and the peace treaty. However, it is not considered likely he will give any vital information on the peace conference such as he is expected to give the Senate when he appears before it.

FIRE IN KNOX TOWNSHIP

Two dwelling houses belonging to Wilmer Bauman, located in Knox township, near Olanta, were destroyed by a fire of unknown origin last evening, entailing a heavy loss upon Mr. Bauman.

OBITUARY

John, son of William and Sarah Earleycorn, was born in the old country many years ago and died in the United States of America June 30th, 1919 at midnight.

He was married to Miss Brewery about one hundred years ago, to this union several million children were born, many thousands are now in the Penitentiaries, prisons, alms houses and hospitals for the insane throughout the country.

His sickness was of short duration, as his condition did not become alarming until September 23d last year. Two hundred and five specialists of the nation gathered to hold a consultation. One hundred and seventy-one decided that there was no hope for him, ninety-four holding out that the case was not fatal, the ninety-four specialists worked hard, for their old friend, using every means in their power to prolong his life, but John finally died.

Before dying he resigned all to the devil. John had many friends in Pennsylvania and some especially dear ones at Harrisburg, who will mourn his loss as a brother.

He had several brothers who died some time ago, namely: Maine, Kansas, West Virginia, Georgia, Arizona, District of Columbia and others who died from this same dread disease, PROHIBITIONITIS. He made a hard fight against the disease but died.

His death has stirred the nation as no other great man for some time. The old home with the crepe on the door is so lonely that his children and friends are weeping with great sorrow.

John ruined many homes, poisoned many minds, blighted characters, and damned souls—"The fool said in his heart there is no God."

The funeral will take place July 1st, 1919. Many places of business will be closed in his honor. His remains will be buried in MEMORY cemetery. There he will sleep until the Resurrection morning, when he will hear the doleful desire, prepared for the devil and his angels.

KINDLY OMIT FLOWERS.

PROHIBITION—PREPAREDNESS—CASH AND CARRY

Clearfield's transition from "wet" to "dry" took place last evening at a late hour technically but as a matter of fact there are some spots which are just a little damp yet and will be until the supply runs down. There was more than the usual amount of drunkenness but nothing approaching a general debauch or a disgraceful spectacle. Many auto parties from various parts of the county rolled into town to bear witness to the passing of John Barleycorn and drink to the repose of his soul. Apparently many were attending his funeral services in as many towns as they could reach during the last hours.

Clearfield never had so many devout believers in the doctrine of preparedness as last evening. Hundreds of men wended their way homeward prepared for the "dry" spell which is sure to come in the hot months of July and August. "Prepare" was the watchword.

Likewise it must surely have done good to the merchant's heart to see so many men converted to the practice of "cash and carry." Men carried packages home last evening who have not carried a package since the days when mother sent them for a bar of Star soap.

These same men, however, were not so strong for "pitiless publicity" that artful phrase coined by our chief coiner of catching phrases. Every little bottle had a package all its own and there was neither rhyme or reason to the packages. Some were square, some were round, some were simply a bundle. In fact it was the greatest exhibition of camouflage ever seen. There were a few who reckoned not the transparent qualities of a palm beach suit and furnished amusement for the crowds about the drinking places. One of these thought he had a full quart artfully concealed beneath the arm of the coat. He did—from the front but from a rear view one could almost see the label on the bottle.

Some may regret it but as a rule everybody seems pleased that the stuff is gone—for a time at least. The quality of the whiskey and beer on the market has been enough to disgust even the hard drinker. As one fellow expressed it this morning: "I like a drink of good whiskey but this stuff we have been getting lately has too many side shows. A quart of it is good for a two reel thriller and a visit to the zoo."

THE FARM ROY

"Why did you leave the farm, my lad?
Why did you beat and leave your dad?
Why did you beat it off to town
And turn your poor old father down?
Thinkers of platform, pulpit, press
Are wailing in deep distress:
They seek to know the hidden cause
Why farmer boys desert their pa's.
Some day they long to get a taste
Of faster life and social waste.
And some will say the silly chumps Mistake the suit cards for their trumps.
In waging fresh and germless air
Against the smoky thoroughfare.
We're all agreed the farm's the place,
So free your mind and state your case."

"Well, Stranger, since you've been so
frank,
I'll roll aside my hazy bank.
The misty cloud of theories,
And tell you where the trouble lies:
I left my dad, his farm, his plow,
Because my calf became his cow;
I left my dad—twice wrong of course,
Because my colt became his horse;
I left my dad to sow and reap
Because my lamb became his sheep;
I dropped my hoe and stuck my fork
Because my pig became his pork;

"The garden truck that I made grow
Was his to sell but mine to hoe;
It's not the smoke in the atmosphere
Nor the taste for life that brought me
here;

Please tell the platform, pulpit press
No fear of toil or love of dress
Is driving off the farmer's sons
But just the methods of their dads."

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture publishes the above poem,
clipped from the Weekly Press Letter of the U. S. department of agriculture, because it is pertinent and timely.

The ensign adopted for the League

stripes, the top and bottom being white and the centre blue. It is really the flag representing the letter "J"

the universal language of the sea—
with the colors reversed. The design was selected principally because it clashes in no way with any existing

WILLARD-DEMPSEY FIGHT PROMOTES BOXING INTEREST

By H. C. HAMILTON
NEW YORK, June 24—With the big fight at Toledo approaching, little attention is being paid to the smaller fry of pugilism but there are pending
in the East some bouts of real class which probably will develop after the conclusion of the heavyweight scrap
ad which will derive many a dollar
from the popularity boxing seems certain to enjoy as a result of the Willard-Dempsey go.

It is true that Benny Leonard has completely disposed of most active contenters to his title, but there are still left a couple of good boys he has not met, and one with whom he could draw a good gate in a return match.

Lew Tindler, the sensational Philadelphia lightweight is one of the youths the Eastern fans would like to see Leonard step with, and there is Joe Welling, veteran Chicago fighter
just itching for a crack at the lightweight title.

Ritchie Mitchell, the Milwaukee boy
Leonard stopped when he won the American lightweight championship
just previous to defeating Freddie Welsh for the world's title, is making motions for a return go. He claims to have developed a punch by sacrificing some of his wonderful speed and believes himself ready to give Leonard a real argument.

There are the three of them, and
Jersey promoters also seek to get
Leonard into a ring with the welterweight champion, Jack Britton, as his opponent.

Tindler is in line for a bout quicker than either Welling or Mitchell, not because he is so much better than
these but for other very good reasons.
Welling is growing old in the harness
and was defeated a short time ago.
Mitchell already has had one good pasting at the hands of the champion and doesn't look like so much of a card as he did a couple of years ago.
Tindler has been breezing along, winning his bouts with ease as a rule, and earning a grand reputation along the seaboard.

Tindler probably would have more excuses if the subject of a fight were opened upon Leonard. He has been getting along well without meeting
the champion and might be inclined to hold back if there was a prospect that Leonard might knock him out—
a prospect which always is just in the offing when Leonard meets any man.

When Leonard met Ed Lewis—at a time when the latter was welterweight champion, the lightweight king was far from being at ease. In fact, it is quite doubtful if he would have consented to the match had it been up to him to arrange it. And,
since Britton succeeded in knocking out Lewis, it would be very strange should Leonard agree to meet Britton
without quibbling.

TWO CENT POSTAGE TOOK EFFECT THIS MORNING

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The reduction in ordinary letter postage from three to two cents, which became effective throughout the United States at midnight, will be welcomed by all classes of the people. When on Nov. 2, 1917, the rate was increased to three cents it extracted pennies and dollars from the pockets of more people than any other provision of the war revenue act, but it is only fair to add that the burden has been willingly and patriotically borne, so long as additional revenue has been necessary to meet the nation's extraordinary expenses of the war.

When the three-cent rate came into effect a whole generation had elapsed since it had cost three cents to send a letter through the mails, outside local limits. In restoring the two-cent rate Uncle Sam is pursuing a policy that is almost as old as the Government itself and which has been interrupted only in cases of greatest emergency. From the time of the original establishment of the Postoffice Department, more than a century and a quarter ago, the tendency has been toward decreasing rather than increasing rates.

Only once before in the history of the country had the Government found it necessary to increase the postage rate. This was in 1812, to meet the expenses of the second war with Great Britain. In that year the ordinary letter postage was doubled, the increased rate continuing for a period of four years before the former rate was restored. Then, as in 1917, the increase was purely an emergency measure to help the Government in defraying the expenses of the war.

The United States postal service was still in a very primitive state of development in those early days, and rates even in times of peace, were high. Communication by mail was chiefly confined to the few. Doubling the then existing rate realized only a few thousand dollars, whereas the recent increase of one-third brought in many additional millions, so tremendous has been the growth of the letter writing habit, both for business and social purposes.

As late as 1840 the lowest letter postage rate in the United States was 6 cents for letters not carried further than 30 miles and containing but a single page. If the distance exceeded 30 miles the charge was 10 cents for each sheet, increasing gradually to 25 cents for 400 miles.

In 1845 the rates were reduced to 5 cents for distances not exceeding 300 miles, and 10 cents for longer distances.

The ordinary adhesive postage stamp, now in universal use, was until then unknown in America. It had lately been introduced in England, but the suggestion that it be introduced on this side of the Atlantic was not popular, and it was not until the postal officials threatened to make its use compulsory that it was officially adopted by the United States in 1847.

Prior to that time the ordinary envelope had not been devised. The sheet on which a letter was written was folded and sealed before being deposited in the mails and the rate of postage varied with the length of the letter.

The postage was paid by the recipient of the letter, instead of the sender—a circumstance which probably accounts for the early unpopularity of the postage stamp. The cost of the postage under the old system was passed on to the recipient, who could refuse to accept and pay for the letter if he saw fit.

In 1851 the rate of ordinary letter postage was reduced from 5 and 10 cents to 3 cents. But these reductions did not avail to stop popular agitation for still cheaper rates, and further changes downward would undoubtedly have been more promptly made but for the civil war and the financial requirements of the Government at that time. The exigencies of that conflict did not bring about any advance in the postal rates, however, and later on, in 1885, not only were letter rates reduced from 3 to 2 cents, but the weight allowed for ordinary letters was increased from one-half to a full ounce.

These rates remained in force until the expenses of the world war necessitated the increase in 1917. With the coming of peace Uncle Sam has hastened to restore the old rates. This morning the two-cent postage stamp resumed its accustomed function, an needless to say the shift is welcomed by the people.

Save Dad's Life Get It For Him

Says it is suicide to cut corns and tells how they lift right out.

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out with the fingers without pain.

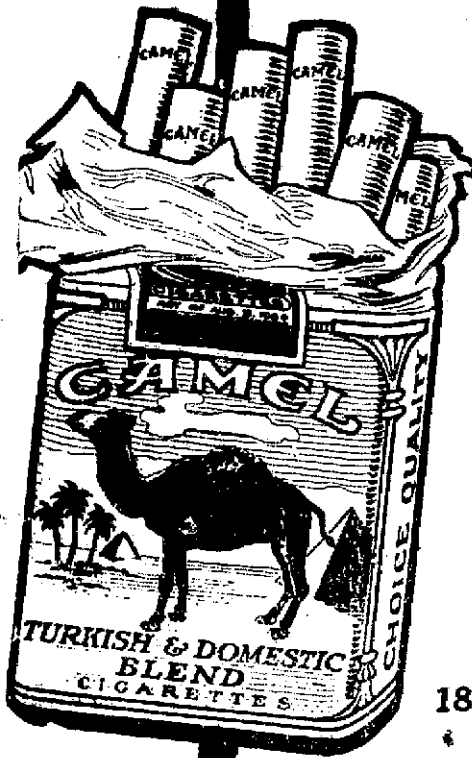

This new drug called freezezone is an ether compound discovered by a Cincinnati man, who says that while freezezone is sticky it dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whittling at his corns, but cut this out and make him try it.

BRADFORD OLD HOME DAY, A SUCCESS

The Fourth Annual Old Home Sunday was observed at the Bradford church in Bradford township last Sunday and it proved to be a very pleasant occasion. The day was beautiful and the crowd was even larger than in former years which makes the annual recurrence of this Old Home Day a sure thing. Services began on Saturday evening when Rev. J. O. Strayer of Woodland preached an able sermon. On Sunday morning the crowds began to arrive at an early hour and during the day services were held almost continuously, presided over by six ministers as follows: Rev. W. S. Wilson, P. C. Hoffman, B. J. Hoffman, J. O. Strayer, J. G. Maines and Rev. Ott. Miss Viola Maines, daughter of Rev. Maines, presided at the organ. Many improvements have been made about the church property and a healthy community spirit prevails. The annual Old Home Sunday will be held every year on the last Sunday in June from this time on. An interesting feature of the Sunday service was the presence of five people who affiliated with the Bradford church in 1869. They were Mrs. Charles Barger, Charles Barger, A. C. Lansberg, Mrs. A. C. Lansberg and Mrs. Ellen Barge.

A revival service will be held at the Bradford church beginning on July 6th. Everybody is invited.

Fourth of July

Celebrate With New And Bright Apparel

One's patriotism is enhanced by new, fresh and bright clothes. And this year, to commemorate Independence Day as well as the more recent deeds of our Heroes, everybody should "dress-up" in order to join the celebration not only in spirit but in outward appearance as well.

We anticipate a busy day to-morrow throughout the Store, and every department is keyed up to the occasion. Nothing is missing to make your preparations thorough and complete, and be your needs large or small they will be properly and economically filled to your entire satisfaction. All we ask of you is to COME EARLY in the day and to be certain of unhurried and unhampered choice. Both values and prices will meet your expectations.

Women's Smart Capes Tomorrow Reduced to 1-2 Price

It seems ridiculous to lower the already moderate prices of these capes, but as sizes are not complete, we take this drastic measure to dispose of them quickly.

Among them are stunning effects—vivid linings, with beautiful colorings, and, what is very important, all of them have the new collars. Indeed they offer you an opportunity to secure a smart wrap for motor or evening wear at little cost.

A Special Clear-Away of 25 Women's Suits at 1-2 Price

Please let us say right at the start that this is not a clear-away of old styles, but a sale based upon new merchandise of a character not to be found elsewhere, at a full third under the fair price it would regularly bring. It is a planned sale—merchandise carefully assembled that provides the best values in clothing such as women are now purchasing for summer wear. It is an added element of value that practically all of the suits are so recent that they will give admirable service.

New models, in light-weight fabrics, that may be worn throughout the summer months, and as far into the fall as possible. At this price there are a number of excellent styles to select from, but as the number is limited, we urge you to come early tomorrow morning, because we feel that the lot will not last out the whole day.

Specially Priced!—Women's Summer Wash Dresses of Voile at $9.75

It is rather hard to tell in so many words just how pretty these dresses are, unless you come in and see them and have one of our saleswomen point out to you all the attractive features.

The collection includes voiles in plain colors, stripes or floral effects. There are shirtwaist effects sports models and one-piece styles. Pleated, gathered, some with collars and cuffs of voile, organdie and pique—all sorts of designs in semi-tailored or dressy styles. All sizes. Specially priced at $9.75

Youthful Styles in Women's Tub Skirts at $2.75

What young woman wouldn't be delighted with one of these skirts? Shirred yoke, or shirred all around, with high waist band that so many young women like. We can hardly do justice to their attractiveness here; there are so many models to choose from at this price, which is exceptionally low.

Materials are cordeline, gabardine and other materials fashioned in the long, slender lines so popular with smart young women. Models are variously trimmed with buttons, novelty pockets and belts. Others from $2.95 to $9.75

Trimmed Hats at Half Price

Your choice of any Trimmed Hat in the store at just 1-2 former price.

A Value-Giving Sale of Summer Waists at $1.25

A special sale of neat, attractive blouses at $1.25 each, that to inspection disclose goodness one would only look for at much higher prices. They are made of plain Voiles, cord hairline voiles, corded novelty voiles, colored stripe voiles.

Some simply tailored styles, with new shapes of collars, pure lines similar to those of high class tailored models. Some that are trimmed with lace, some with embroidery, and a few with both lace and embroidery. Every style new and good. Values are astonishingly good and the styles wonderfully attractive. At this low price you should buy several of these Waists. All sizes. Other beautiful waists at $1.50 to $7.50

"WETS" MAY DIG OWN GRAVE WARNS CONGRESS HEARING OF VIOLATION

WILL TAKE UP RIGID ENFORCEMENT MEASURES IF SALOONS DO NOT OBEY WAR TIME PROHIBITION

PALMER AGAIN WARNS DEALERS

WASHINGTON, July 1—Lax enforcement of wartime prohibition will mean the hasty enactment of strict enforcement legislation, prohibition leaders in Congress declared today. The dregs, headed by Chairman Volstead of the Judiciary committee, will press the enforcement bill early next week, asking for a special ruling so that it will be considered.

WASHINGTON, July 1—"Dealers who continue to sell beer are in danger of arrest and prosecution," Attorney General Palmer declared today.

PITTSBURGH, July 1—"Saloon keepers selling beer containing alcohol are doing so at their own risk," United States District Attorney Crawford declared in a statement issued here today. "I do not think it is necessary to await further orders," he said. "It is up to the United States court whether these saloon keepers are violating the law. Cases will be investigated and where it is known that the law is being violated the Department of Justice will make arrests. To my mind Attorney General Palmer's statement is very plain. It sets forth what is violated and what is not."

Practically all of the saloons in Pittsburgh are open for business today, selling "non-intoxicating" beer. The amount of alcohol the drink contains was kept secret. Brewers refused to state the alcoholic contents.

WAR CLASSICS

WASHINGTON, June 30. (United Press.)—An addition to the short list of historic messages of American commanders in the European War was made today.

Second division records disclosed the message of Maj. George K. Shuler, 6th Marines, at Blanc Mont, capture of which was declared by French commanders to be the greatest American achievement of the war:

"We can not only hold them; we can knock the — out of them."

The message, with a rough and purely American word where the dash is used, was sent without change through regimental, brigade and division headquarters to General Gourard, one-armed French corps commander, directing 2d Division operations.

Major Shuler's reply to a question by Lieut.-Col. Thomas Holcomb, regimental commander, whether he could hold his position with the few men at his command against a counter-attack, was him the Legion of Honor upon recommendation of General Gourard. He wears also the Croix de Guerre with two palms.

The 2d was before Blanc Mont on October 7, 1918. The position was believed impregnable. French divisions had tried five times to take it. French tacticians said its capture by Americans made possible the British advance on St. Quentin. They said it was far greater than Chateau-Thierry.

On October 8, the Americans attacked Blanc Mont. Shuler's battalion won a mound commanding the village of St. Etienne. In the afternoon a terrific barrage was laid down by the Germans, who counter-attacked.

"Can you hold them?" the regimental commander messaged Shuler. His famous reply followed.

Another 2d Division message—the only dramatic one published in the War Department history—is of unknown authorship. Officers said it came from General Harbord, Marine Brigade Commander; Lieutenant-Colonel Holcomb or Col. Harry Lee, of the 6th Marines, or from Capt. (then Lieutenant) James F. Robertson, of the 2d Battalion of the 6th. It was written in indignant answer to an unpublished query, following reports that Germans had recaptured the hard-won village of Boursies, adjoining Belleau Woods, and said:

"Have not given up one inch of ground. No report of prisoners taken."

Robertson had captured the town with twenty-odd men.

Most famous messages that have become public were from 2d Division commanders. General Harbord's contribution was at Chateau-Thierry:

"Hold this line at any cost."

It was First Sgt. Dan Daly, of the Marines—thrice recommended in various wars for the Congressional Medal of Honor and twice awarded it, and in possession of the Croix de Guerre and D. S. C., who tightened a wavering line in Belleau Woods by yelling:

"Come on, you —! Do you want to live forever?"

Gen. L. S. Upton, in command of the 9th Infantry at Soissons, when told his veteran regiment—which with the 23d Infantry and the Marines made up the 2d Division—had gone past its objective, sent this reply:

"If the Crown Prince's army can't stop them, how can I?"

COMMITTEE.

While Jews are, of course, subject to the ordinary ailments of life, they can boast of an average longer life than any other race. They have always enjoyed remarkable immunity from tuberculosis, cholera and typhus. In the fourteenth century, when the Black Death was raging throughout Europe the Jews were exempt from the plague.

TEN KILLED WHEN N.Y.C. PASSENGER TRAINS COLLIDE

DUNKIRK, N. Y., July 1. (United Press.)—Ten persons were killed and 16 injured early today in a rear end collision of two New York Central passenger trains in the Dunkirk station. The injured were taken to the Dunkirk hospital. It was feared that some of the injured were fatally hurt.

The accident occurred at 2:30 A. M. Train No. 41 was standing in the Dunkirk station where it had been delayed by a hot box. The flagman endeavored to stop train No. 7 which was following. The air brakes on the second train apparently failed to work. With great speed train No. 7 plowed into the rear coach of the standing train. Almost instantly the boiler of the locomotive of train No. 7 exploded. The wreckage caught fire. Firemen extinguished the flames and aided the policemen in removing the dead and injured.

FAIR EXHIBITS GALORE

The Philipsburg Journal reprints the following from the Curwensville Herald: "According to a Clearfield newspaper a dealer in that city has a horse weighing 28000 pounds. [The monster animal should be saved for the county fair.]"

In the same issue of The Journal we notice a headline, "35.50 A Head For Cows". Isn't that a little high for Centre county stock?

WILL BE MARRIED TOMORROW

Mr. Perry Brigham and Verna Worring hope to surprise their friends and families tomorrow by being quietly married. They will enter the state of matrimony at seven o'clock and leave on the morning express.

SIXTY VOLUNTEERS WANTED TO SERVE SERVICE MEN

The committee in charge of the serving of luncheon to service men is preparing to feed no less than 1500 men at the park on the Fourth. Volunteers are wanted on the Entertainment Committee. M. C. A. this evening at eight o'clock for instructions. It is hoped that every girl in Clearfield will respond to this call. There is a great amount of work to do in preparing the tables, serving the men and seeing that all have a royal good time. This is work that the men cannot do so it is up to the girls of our town. Be on hand promptly at eight o'clock this evening.

JOHN W. EBERTS DROPS DEAD

John W. Eberts dropped dead in his hayfield shortly after supper time last evening. Mr. Eberts had been attending to business at his mill all day and appeared to be in his usual health. In the evening he went to the hayfield and was assisting his man in taking up some hay when he fell over and expired almost instantly. News of Mr. Eberts' sudden death was a sad shock to our community.

John Eberts was one of the substantial citizens of Clearfield and our town and community suffers a distinct loss in his death.

He was a native of Centre county and came to Boggs township and took up his residence along about 1881. He was especially industrious and hard working and was a very successful business man. Some fifteen years ago he moved to Clearfield and embarked in the flour and feed business, which he purchased from the late James A. Moore. He built up a prosperous business and died possessed of considerable means. He was quiet and unobtrusive and a good citizen in all that the term implies and was known and respected by a large circle of friends.

He was about 60 years of age and is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. M. O. T. Sahn, and one son, J. Willis Eberts, all of Clearfield.

BROKE HIS ANKLE

J. Fred Weaver is housed up with a broken ankle at present.

FIRE IN KNOX TOWNSHIP

Two dwelling houses belonging to Wilmer Bauman, located in Knox township, near Olanta, were destroyed by a fire of unknown origin last evening, entailing a heavy loss upon Mr. Bauman.

OBITUARY

John, son of William and Sarah Earleycorn, was born in the old country many years ago and died in the United States of America June 30th, 1919 at midnight.

He was married to Miss Brewery about one hundred years ago, to this union several million children were born, many thousands are now in the Penitentiaries, prisons, alms houses and hospitals for the insane throughout the country.

His sickness was of short duration, as his condition did not become alarming until September 23d last year. Two hundred and five specialists of the nation gathered to hold a consultation. One hundred and seventy-one decided that there was no hope for him, ninety-four holding out that the case was not fatal, the ninety-four specialists worked hard, for their old friend, using every means in their power to prolong his life, but John finally died.

Before dying he resigned all to the devil. John had many friends in Pennsylvania and some especially dear ones at Harrisburg, who will mourn his loss as a brother.

He had several brothers who died some time ago, namely: Maine, Kansas, West Virginia, Georgia, Arizona, District of Columbia and others who died from this same dread disease, PROHIBITIONITIS. He made a hard fight against the disease but died.

His death has stirred the nation as no other great man for some time. The old home with the crepe on the door is so lonely that his children and friends are weeping with great sorrow.

John ruined many homes, poisoned many minds, blighted characters, and damned souls—"The fool said in his heart there is no God."

The funeral will take place July 1st, 1919. Many places of business will be closed in his honor. His remains will be buried in MEMORY cemetery. There he will sleep until the Resurrection morning, when he will hear the doleful desire, prepared for the devil and his angels.

KINDLY OMIT FLOWERS.

Clearfield's transition from "wet" to "dry" took place last evening at a late hour technically but as a matter of fact there are some spots which are just a little damp yet and will be until the supply runs down. There was more than the usual amount of drunkenness but nothing approaching a general debauch or a disgraceful spectacle. Many auto parties from various parts of the county rolled into town to bear witness to the passing of John Barleycorn and drink to the repose of his soul. Apparently many were attending his funeral services in as many towns as they could reach during the last hours.

Clearfield never had so many devout believers in the doctrine of preparedness as last evening. Hundreds of men wended their way homeward prepared for the "dry" spell which is sure to come in the hot months of July and August. "Prepare" was the watchword.

Likewise it must surely have done good to the merchant's heart to see so many men converted to the practice of "cash and carry." Men carried packages home last evening who have not carried a package since the days when mother sent them for a bar of Star soap.

These same men, however, were not so strong for "pitiless publicity" that artful phrase coined by our chief coiner of catching phrases. Every little bottle had a package all its own and there was neither rhyme or reason to the packages. Some were square, some were round, some were simply a bundle. In fact it was the greatest exhibition of camouflage ever seen. There were a few who reckoned not the transparent qualities of a palm beach suit and furnished amusement for the crowds about the drinking places. One of these thought he had a full quart artfully concealed beneath the arm of the coat. He did—from the front but from a rear view one could almost see the label on the bottle.

Some may regret it but as a rule everybody seems pleased that the stuff is gone—for a time at least. The quality of the whiskey and beer on the market has been enough to disgust even the hard drinker. As one fellow expressed it this morning: "I like a drink of good whiskey but this stuff we have been getting lately has too many side shows. A quart of it is good for a two reel thriller and a visit to the zoo."

THE FARM ROY

"Why did you leave the farm, my lad?
Why did you beat and leave your dad?
Why did you beat it off to town
And turn your poor old father down?
Thinkers of platform, pulpit, press
Are wailing in deep distress:
They seek to know the hidden cause
Why farmer boys desert their pa's.
Some day they long to get a taste
Of faster life and social waste.
And some will say the silly chumps Mistake the suit cards for their
trumps.
In waging fresh and germless air
Against the smoky thoroughfare.
We're all agreed the farm's the place,
So free your mind and state your
case."

"Well, Stranger, since you've been so
frank,
I'll roll aside my hazy bank.
The misty cloud of theories,
And tell you where the trouble lies:
I left my dad, his farm, his plow,
Because my calf became his cow;
I left my dad—twice wrong of course,
Because my calf became his horse;
I left my dad to sow and reap
Because my lamb became his sheep;
I dropped my hoe and stuck my fork
Because my pig became his pork;

"The garden truck that I made grow
Was his to sell but mine to hoe;
It's not the smoke in the atmosphere
Nor the taste for life that brought me
here;
Please tell the platform, pulpit press
No fear of toil or love of dress
Is driving off the farmer's sons
But just the methods of their dads."

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture publishes the above poem,
clipped from the Weekly Press Letter
of the U. S. department of agriculture, because it is pertinent and timely.

Some day Dad's will see the light and the farm boy exodus will be large by a thing of the past.

The ensign adopted for the League of Nations has three broad horizontal stripes, the top and bottom being
white and the centre blue. It is really
the flag representing the letter "J" in the international code—which is the universal language of the sea—
with the colors reversed. The design
was selected principally because it clashes in no way with any existing national flag.

WILLARD-DEMPSEY FIGHT PROMOTES BOXING INTEREST

By H. C. HAMILTON
NEW YORK, June 24—With the
big fight at Toledo approaching, little attention is being paid to the smaller
fry of pugilism but there are pending
in the East some bouts of real class
which probably will develop after the conclusion of the heavyweight scrap
ad which will derive many a dollar
from the popularity boxing seems certain to enjoy as a result of the Willard-Dempsey go.

It is true that Benny Leonard has completely disposed of most active contenters to his title, but there are still left a couple of good boys he has not met, and one with whom he could
draw a good gate in a return match.
Lew Tendlar, the sensational Philadelphia lightweight is one of the youths the Eastern fans would like to see Leonard step with, and there is
Joe Welling, veteran Chicago fighter
just itching for a crack at the lightweight title.

Ritchie Mitchell, the Milwaukee boy
Leonard stopped when he won the American lightweight championship
just previous to defeating Freddie Welsh for the world's title, is making motions for a return go. He claims to have developed a punch by sacrificing some of his wonderful speed and believes himself ready to give Leonard a real argument.

There are the three of them, and
Jersey promoters also seek to get
Leonard into a ring with the welterweight champion, Jack Britton, as his opponent.

Tendlar is in line for a bout quicker than either Welling or Mitchell,
not because he is so much better than
these but for other very good reasons.
Welling is growing old in the harness
and was defeated a short time ago.
Mitchell already has had one good pasting at the hands of the champion
and doesn't look like so much of a
card as he did a couple of years ago.
Tendlar has been breezing along, winning his bouts with ease as a rule, and earning a grand reputation along the seaboard.

Tendlar probably would have more excuses if the subject of a fight were opened than Leonard. He has been getting along well without meeting
the champion and might be inclined
to hold back if there was a prospect
that Leonard might knock him out—
a prospect which always is just in the offing when Leonard meets any man.

When Leonard met Ed Lewis—at
a time when the latter was welter-
weight champion, the lightweight king was far from being at ease. In fact, it is quite doubtful if he would have consented to the match had it
been up to him to arrange it. And,
since Britton succeeded in knocking
out Lewis, it would be very strange
should Leonard agree to meet Britton
without quibbling.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The reduction in ordinary letter postage from three to two cents, which became effective throughout the United States at midnight, will be welcomed by all classes of the people. When on Nov. 2, 1917, the rate was increased to three cents it extracted pennies and dollars from the pockets of more people than any other provision of the war revenue act, but it is only fair to add that the burden has been willingly and patriotically borne, so long as additional revenue has been necessary to meet the nation's extraordinary expenses of the war.

When the three-cent rate came into effect a whole generation had elapsed since it had cost three cents to send a letter through the mails, outside local limits. In restoring the two-cent rate Uncle Sam is pursuing a policy that is almost as old as the Government itself and which has been interrupted only in cases of greatest emergency. From the time of the original establishment of the Postoffice Department, more than a century and a quarter ago, the tendency has been toward decreasing rather than increasing rates.

Only once before in the history of the country had the Government found it necessary to increase the postage rate. This was in 1812, to meet the expenses of the second war with Great Britain. In that year the ordinary letter postage was doubled, the increased rate continuing for a period of four years before the former rate was restored. Then, as in 1917, the increase was purely an emergency measure to help the Government in defraying the expenses of the war.

The United States postal service was still in a very primitive state of development in those early days, and rates even in times of peace, were high. Communication by mail was chiefly confined to the few. Doubling the then existing rate realized only a few thousand dollars, whereas the recent increase of one-third brought in many additional millions, so tremendous has been the growth of the letter writing habit, both for business and social purposes.

As late as 1840 the lowest letter postage rate in the United States was 6 cents for letters not carried further than 30 miles and containing but a single page. If the distance exceeded 30 miles the charge was 10 cents for each sheet, increasing gradually to 25 cents for 400 miles.

In 1845 the rates were reduced to 5 cents for distances not exceeding 300 miles, and 10 cents for longer distances.

The ordinary adhesive postage stamp, now in universal use, was until then unknown in America. It had lately been introduced in England, but the suggestion that it be introduced on this side of the Atlantic was not popular, and it was not until the postal officials threatened to make its use compulsory that it was officially adopted by the United States in 1847.

Prior to that time the ordinary envelope had not been devised. The sheet on which a letter was written was folded and sealed before being deposited in the mails and the rate of postage varied with the length of the letter.

The postage was paid by the recipient of the letter, instead of the sender—a circumstance which probably accounts for the early unpopularity of the postage stamp. The cost of the postage under the old system was passed on to the recipient, who could refuse to accept and pay for the letter if he saw fit.

In 1851 the rate of ordinary letter postage was reduced from 5 and 10 cents to 3 cents. But these reductions did not avail to stop popular agitation for still cheaper rates, and further changes downward would undoubtedly have been more promptly made but for the civil war and the financial requirements of the Government at that time. The exigencies of that conflict did not bring about any advance in the postal rates, however, and later on, in 1885, not only were letter rates reduced from 3 to 2 cents, but the weight allowed for ordinary letters was increased from one-half to a full ounce.

These rates remained in force until the expenses of the world war necessitated the increase in 1917. With the coming of peace Uncle Sam has hastened to restore the old rates. This morning the two-cent postage stamp resumed its accustomed function, an needless to say the shift is welcomed by the people.

Save Dad's Life Get It For Him

Says it is suicide to cut corns and tells how they lift right out.

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out with the fingers without pain.

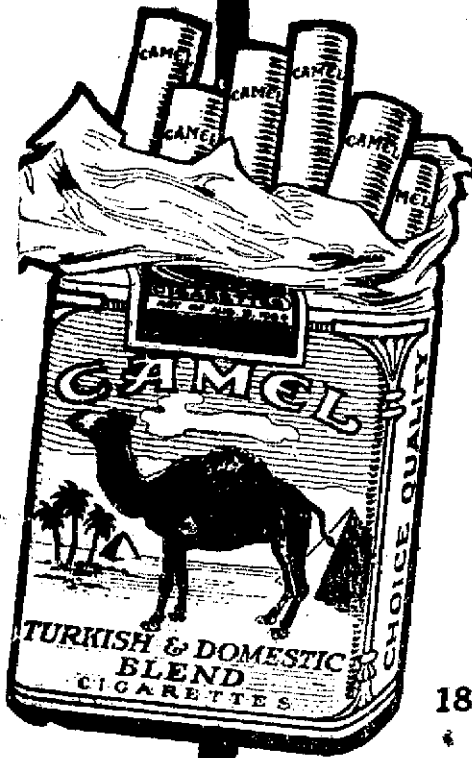

This new drug called freezezone is an ether compound discovered by a Cincinnati man, who says that while freezezone is sticky it dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whittling at his corns, but cut this out and make him try it.

BRADFORD OLD HOME DAY, A SUCCESS

The Fourth Annual Old Home Sunday was observed at the Bradford church in Bradford township last Sunday and it proved to be a very pleasant occasion. The day was beautiful and the crowd was even larger than in former years which makes the annual recurrence of this Old Home Day a sure thing. Services began on Saturday evening when Rev. J. O. Strayer of Woodland preached an able sermon. On Sunday morning the crowds began to arrive at an early hour and during the day services were held almost continuously, presided over by six ministers as follows: Rev. W. S. Wilson, P. C. Hoffman, B. J. Hoffman, J. O. Strayer, J. G. Maines and Rev. Ott. Miss Viola Maines, daughter of Rev. Maines, presided at the organ. Many improvements have been made about the church property and a healthy community spirit prevails. The annual Old Home Sunday will be held every year on the last Sunday in June from this time on. An interesting feature of the Sunday service was the presence of five people who affiliated with the Bradford church in 1869. They were Mrs. Charles Barger, Charles Barger, A. C. Lansberg, Mrs. A. C. Lansberg and Mrs. Ellen Barge.

A revival service will be held at the Bradford church beginning on July 6th. Everybody is invited.

Why not buy that NEW EDISON Tomorrow?

You've been planning to buy it for months—ever since you heard it last time at a friend's house. Remember what you said?

"Really it's incredible! I could swear Anna Case was right here in the room. I don't doubt their claim about the tone test—that you can't tell the living artist from the instrument when you hear them together."

Remember how the evening flew?—How your friend played one CREATION after another? Why delay any longer? Why not have the New Edison sent out tomorrow as a surprise to your family? If you don't feel like paying in full we can arrange for payments at intervals. You gain nothing by delaying. If it isn't your own, you know. It will outlive you.

Celebrate With New And Bright Apparel

One's patriotism is enhanced by new, fresh and bright clothes. And this year, to commemorate Independence Day as well as the more recent deeds of our Heroes, everybody should "dress-up" in order to join the celebration not only in spirit but in outward appearance as well.

We anticipate a busy day to-morrow throughout the Store, and every department is keyed up to the occasion. Nothing is missing to make your preparations thorough and complete, and be your needs large or small they will be properly and economically filled to your entire satisfaction. All we ask of you is to COME EARLY in the day and to be certain of unhurried and unhampered choice. Both values and prices will meet your expectations.

Women's Smart Capes Tomorrow Reduced to 1-2 Price

It seems ridiculous to lower the already moderate prices of these capes, but as sizes are not complete, we take this drastic measure to dispose of them quickly.

Among them are stunning effects—vivid linings, with beautiful colorings, and, what is very important, all of them have the new collars. Indeed they offer you an opportunity to secure a smart wrap for motor or evening wear at little cost.

Please let us say right at the start that this is not a clear-away of old styles, but a sale based upon new merchandise of a character not to be found elsewhere, at a full third under the fair price it would regularly bring. It is a planned sale—merchandise carefully assembled that provides the best values in clothing such as women are now purchasing for summer wear. It is an added element of value that practically all of the suits are so recent that they will give admirable service.

New models, in light-weight fabrics, that may be worn throughout the summer months, and as far into the fall as possible. At this price there are a number of excellent styles to select from, but as the number is limited, we urge you to come early tomorrow morning, because we feel that the lot will not last out the whole day.

Specially Priced!—Women's Summer Wash Dresses of Voile at $9.75

It is rather hard to tell in so many words just how pretty these dresses are, unless you come in and see them and have one of our saleswomen point out to you all the attractive features.

The collection includes voiles in plain colors, stripes or floral effects. There are shirtwaist effects sports models and one-piece styles. Pleated, gathered, some with collars and cuffs of voile, organdie and pique—all sorts of designs in semi-tailored or dressy styles. All sizes. Specially priced at $9.75

What young woman wouldn't be delighted with one of these skirts? Shirred yoke, or shirred all around, with high waist band that so many young women like. We can hardly do justice to their attractiveness here; there are so many models to choose from at this price, which is exceptionally low.

Materials are cordeline, gabardine and other materials fashioned in the long, slender lines so popular with smart young women. Models are variously trimmed with buttons, novelty pockets and belts. Others from $2.95 to $9.75

Your choice of any Trimmed Hat in the store at just 1-2 former price.

A Value-Giving Sale of Summer Waists at $1.25

A special sale of neat, attractive blouses at $1.25 each, that to inspection disclose goodness one would only look for at much higher prices. They are made of plain Voiles, cord hairline voiles, corded novelty voiles, colored stripe voiles.

Some simply tailored styles, with new shapes of collars, pure lines similar to those of high class tailored models. Some that are trimmed with lace, some with embroidery, and a few with both lace and embroidery. Every style new and good. Values are astonishingly good and the styles wonderfully attractive. At this low price you should buy several of these Waists. All sizes. Other beautiful waists at $1.50 to $7.50
